BULLETIN NO. 1
January 8, 1941

This is the first Daily Bulletin of the Institute of Government's Legislative Service. To those using these bulletins for the first time, a few words of explanation may prove helpful:

The first item in the bulletin will be the time each house met. When there is more than one session during the day, this will be indicated.

The second item is Bills Introduced, grouped according to the house in which they originated. Each bill is numbered. SB indicates Senate Bill; HB, House Bill. Following the number is the full title of the bill, then, in parenthesis, a brief digest of its contents, giving all important provisions. Next is the name of the legislator who introduced it and the committee to which it was referred.

After Bills Introduced is given the Calendar Action, for each house. The bills are there listed according to the action taken on them, such as Passed Third Reading, Reported Favorably by Committee, etc. The bills are listed by number, and the Short Title--a few words indentifying the bill. When a bill is amended, the amendment is summarized; the same is done for committee substitutes.

The last item is the time set for the next session of each house.

If anything in the make-up of the bulletins proves confusing, or can be bettered, please inform us at once.

Sessions: Senate--noon; House--noon.

SUMMARY OF VIEWS AND SUGGESTIONS ON PUBLIC QUESTIONS
EXPRESSED IN GOVERNOR BROUGHTON'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS AND MESSAGE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Briefly reviewing the progress made in the past, the Governor pledges allegiance to North Carolina's tradition of progressive conservatism, points to the resources of the State, and promises co-operation with the General Assembly in a program designed to benefit the State. He urges a "reasonably short session".

Taxation: The State must adhere to its policy of a balanced budget. Minor amendments to the permanent Revenue Act may be necessary, but there should be no substantial changes in the levies fixed in 1939.

Due to revenue needs for social and humanitarian purposes, the sales tax should be continued, but should be removed from all essential foods for home consumption, by adding to the list of exemptions already made.

Public Schools: Remarkable progress has been made in the school system, but there is much remaining to be done:

1. An adequate and fair teacher retirement bill should be enacted, preferably one embodying the recommendations of the State Retirement Commission, which would include all State employees.

2. The appropriation for vocational training and guidance should be increased and an adequate number of trained teachers in this field should be provided. It is also recommended that the Legislature provide for a thorough study of the subject.

3. Teachers should be protected so as to give reasonable continuity of employment by amending the School Machinery Act.

4. Though the local units should still be allowed to supplement and expand school service, it should not be forgotten that the schools are part of the State system. The goal of a uniform 9 months' term and a 12th grade for all high schools should have early attainment.

5. In view of labor law changes, consideration should be given to raising the school attendance age limit from 14 to 16 years.

6. There is considerable duplication and overlapping in the public school system administration. If these are found to hamper school development, the General Assembly should consider submitting to the voters a Constitutional Amendment creating a state board of education with full responsibility and powers for the administration of the state school system.

7. Increases should be made in the admittedly inadequate salaries of school teachers, insofar as this is possible within available revenue.

8. Continuation of the program of adult education in cooperation with Federal agencies should be favorably considered, in view of the results attained.

Other Educational Agencies: The needs of the Greater University and teacher training schools for adequate appropriations should be carefully considered.

The State has been laggard in supplying public libraries, and should now share in providing them, particularly in rural areas.

Public Roads: Many sections of the State's great system of primary highways are now proving inadequate and must be revamped or rebuilt. The General Assembly and the Highway Commission are urged to make adequate provision for farm-to-market and home-to-school rural roads. Funds collected for road purposes should be used wholly for these objectives and not be diverted for uses unrelated to the road and highway program, and the principle of a state highway system should be upheld.

Agriculture: The Governor suggests important changes in our agricultural methods, asks even greater emphasis on the program of diversified farming, and approves appropriations to agricultural agencies sufficient to encourage the raising and marketing of livestock. The "Decade of Progress" program merits "heartiest cooperation". Friction, overlapping and duplication between State agricultural agencies should be terminated.

Conservation and Development: The Governor endorses the State's enlarged conservation program and makes these recommendations: (a) provide for timber conservation and fire protection out of the general fund; (b) apply the entire proceeds of fishing and hunting licenses, less cost of administration, to propagation and conservation of fish and game; (c) supplement and extend State geological facilities and closely coordinate all agencies dealing with ceramics and mining industries, to meet the growing defense demands of commerce and industry; (d) enlarge the division of commerce and industry. Maintenance of the State's new Washington office to attract new industries and secure defense contracts for the State is desirable.

Transportation and Freight Rates: The handicap of freight rate discrimination is a matter of vital importance to agriculture and industry in the State. An addition to the appropriation for the Utilities Commission has been asked in an amount sufficient to enable the State to participate actively in an investigation of the problem, now being conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Health and Humanitarian Agencies: The message requests adequate provision for public health and for the various State hospitals and institutions for the afflicted. Funds for the completion of the Eastern Carolina Tuberculosis Sanatorium authorized by the 1939 Legislature are needed. Legislators are urged to provide for training prisoners in useful trades to further their rehabilitation, and the "humane and correctional treatment" of prisoners is endorsed as part of the State's welfare program.

Next Sessions: (January 10) House and Senate--11 A. M.

Department of Labor: Careful consideration of the report to be made by the commission appointed in 1939 to study wage and hour legislation is urged.

Law Enforcement and Civic Righteousness: The General Assembly is asked to give much attention to law observance and enforcement. The highway patrol should be relieved of any tax collecting duty and should devote itself exclusively to law enforcement duties. Patrol administration and personnel should be removed from politics, and recommendations for legislation affecting administration of the patrol and "other agencies related to the regulation of motor vehicles" are promised. Immediate laws should be enacted prohibiting "the unrestricted and unregulated sale of so-called fortified wines". Slot gambling machines should be barred, "with no loopholes in the law either for revenue or other purposes."

Reapportionment and Redistricting: The creation of a twelfth district from which to elect the additional Congressman to which the State is entitled under the 1940 census is preferable to provision for a congressman-at-large. Reapportionment is a duty at the present time under the mandate of the State Constitution.

Cooperation with Federal Agencies: Cooperation "in every reasonable way" is promised in the effort to obtain... (a) fair share of such...benefits as rural electrification, NYA activities, CCC camps, farm aid, social security benefits, including unemployment compensation and old age assistance, public welfare and relief contributions, and all other benefits available under the program inaugurated by the Federal government.

National Defense and Related Matters: The State will cooperate fully with military and naval training posts and defense industries established within its bounds. Harmonious relations between capital and labor are imperative. Strikes affecting essential war or defense industries are condemned, as are attempts by employers to exploit labor or to destroy the well earned rights of labor under the guise of emergency or pretense of patriotism. The President's policy of furnishing England all possible aid short of armed intervention is approved. Any legislation necessary to provide an adequate homeguard and to strengthen State and local law enforcement agencies should be given first attention.

SB 11. (Public)

"To Amend and Supplement the Revenue Act of One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-nine (1939), the Same Being Chapter One Hundred and Fifty-eight (158) of the Public Laws of North Carolina Session of One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-nine (1939)." (The Revenue Act: The 1939 Act is permanent and continuing, and this bill is designed to amend and supplement. The summary of its provisions is not designed to indicate all changes, but only some of them.

Inheritance Taxes (Section 1): Would provide that distributions made to evade tax would make administrator, executor, beneficiary or beneficiaries liable for double amount of tax ordinarily due. Would also prevent imposition of tax on transfer by, or because of death of, non-residents, of intangibles not having commercial or business situs in state. Intangibles held in trust by non-residents not deemed to have situs in state unless used or held in connection with some business carried on in state.

Would change provisions for deducting taxes unpaid at death, in determining clear market value of property, to allow deduction for taxes accrued and unpaid at death and ad valorem taxes accruing during calendar year of death, instead of taxes due at death and pro rata part of taxes accrued for fiscal year, but not yet due.

License Taxes (Section 2): Would define mercantile agency as one engaged in business of reporting financial standings, instead of "engaged in the regular business." Agencies not publishing state-wide credit or financial rating book would pay license tax of $100, instead of present law, under which agencies doing special service for only one industry pay tax of $250. Cities and counties may not tax mercantile agencies.

Franchise Taxes (Section 3): Makes inadequate capital stock of corporation to extent capital is furnished by parent or affiliated corporation.

Also provides method of determining taxable capital stock of non-manufacturing and selling corporations doing business outside as well as within state, on basis of gross receipts within state compared with total gross receipts.

Income Taxes (Section 4):

(a) Would define resident as individual domiciled in state at any time during income year, instead of individual who was resident of state on first day of tax year. Also specifies what would and would not raise presumption of residence. Taxes to be pro-rated for emigrants from state and immigrants into state during year.

(c) Would also amend provision covering corporations, to include all corporations.

(f) Would prohibit deductions of contributions or gifts by partnerships in computing net income. Would allow partners to deduct proportionate share of contributions on their individual returns.

(g) Would clarify Act by allowing exemption for dependent relatives under 18 years, or, if over 18, incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

(h) Would limit exemption of $200 for children to persons granted exemption under terms of Sec. 324, 1, (b), as amended by (g) above.

Other subsections would make minor corrections and repeal provision allowing credit to non-residents for taxes paid elsewhere.

Sales Tax (Section 5): Redefines "sale", adds to condition exemption list: fowl, eggs, cereals, grits, rice, butter, butter substitutes, fresh vegetables, canned vegetables, fresh fruits, canned fruits, tea, canned milk, evaporated milk, fish, canned fish, and canned meats. Flour re-defined to include rye, barley, buckwheat, rice and other grains.

Intangibles Tax (Section 6): Allows deduction on indebtedness incurred for purchase of shares of stock, where stock is collateral for debt, and in proportion of taxable value of stock to total value of stock. Beneficial interests in foreign trust taxed at 30¢ per $100, replacing rate fixed on basis of underlying intangible property.

Compensating Use Tax (Section 7): Rewrites Compensation Use Tax Act of 1939 to redefine and clarify its terms. Removes $1.00 fee for registering retailers.

General Administration (Section 8): Would permit garnishment proceedings against bank deposits, wages, or any property incapable of manual levy; not more than 10% of salary can be garnisheed in month; provides procedure.
